Philosophy for Life is a brief overview of the philosophical ideas and thoughts of twelve of the most famous (ancient Greek) philosophers from Epictetus and Pythagoras to Diogenes and Socrates. Writer and teacher Jules Evans not only explores the brilliant insights of these ancient philosophers, but also tries to examine how to apply their ideas to our own everyday lives.

Getting Practical Philosophy into the Classroom, by Jules ...

Philosophy without psychology is a brain in a vat, artificially cut off from emotions and actions and the habits of life. Psychology without ethics is a chicken without a head, focused entirely on evidence without any clear sense of the goal. Practical philosophy is a bridge between the evidence-based techniques of psychology, and the Socratic questioning of philosophy.
