Red Scarf Girl brings us with Ji-Li as she grows up in the height of China's cultur What most of us have neglected to do is explore how valid our opinions are. Ji-Li Jiang's memoir was written for children, and because she is a teacher her book is very accessible for most elementary school-age kids.

Red Scarf Girl is Ji-li Jiang's Memoir of the Cultural Revolution. The subtitle is a little misleading, as the book only covers two and a half years in the author's life, from the spring of 1966 when she was twelve years old, to the fall of 1968 when she was fourteen, while the Cultural Revolution continued until Mao Ze-dong's death in 1976. It is also Jiang's coming-of-age story.

The Red Revolution The Red Scarf Girl by Ji Li Jiang, is a memoir of how Mao's reign affected families in China.

The story begins with Mao's revolution. This revolution required Chinese families to get rid of the 4-Olds which were old ideas, old culture, old customs, and old habits.

The memoir is about Ji Li who was at the top of her class, had a pretty wealthy family, and lots of friends.
